Firearm Laws: Combinations of Firearms Laws

Task Force Finding

Intervention Definition
This review addresses whether a greater degree of firearms regulation in a jurisdiction results in a reduction of violence in the same jurisdiction.

Task Force Finding (April 2002)*
The evidence, based on national law assessments, international comparisons, and index studies (those that develop indices of regulation), is currently insufficient to determine the effectiveness of the degree of firearms regulation in preventing violence. The number of available studies was small, and they showed limitations in their execution and inconsistent findings.

*From the following publication:

Publications

Disclaimer
The findings and conclusions on this page are those of the Community Preventive Services Task Force and do not necessarily represent those of CDC. Task Force evidence-based recommendations are not mandates for compliance or spending. Instead, they provide information and options for decision makers and stakeholders to consider when determining which programs, services, and policies best meet the needs, preferences, available resources, and constraints of their constituents.

Document last updated September 29, 2010